

ANOTHER VICTIM OF LONDON WRECK DEAD

Twenty-Fourth American Dead From Awful Salisbury Catastrophe.

WHOLE FAMILY WIPE OUT

Wife and Daughters Had Presentiment That Something Terrible Was Impending Before Start.

SALISBURY, England, July 15.—Edward W. Sentell, of Brooklyn, one of the victims of the great disaster to the American boat train which was wrecked here just two weeks ago, died last night of the injuries he received in the accident. He is the twenty-fourth American to die as the result of the wreck, and was the last member of his family wiped out by the wreck.

Mr. Sentell, with his wife, his daughters, Blanche E. and Gertrude M., and his son, Charles E. Sentell, were passengers on the doomed train, having come to Europe to spend their vacation together.

Rest Instantly Killed.
Mrs. Sentell, the two daughters and the son were taken from the wreck dead. Mr. Sentell was found three hours after the accident happened, buried under the debris. He was taken out and carried to the infirmary, where everything possible was done to save his life.

At first the aged man, who was in his sixty-ninth year, seemed to improve. In the last few days, however, his condition had grown worse, and the physicians practically gave up all hope of saving him. His death followed last night.

Feared Something Would Happen.

There was an unusual feature in connection with the calamity which overtook the family and wiped out the members of existence at a single blow, in that before sailing on the steamer New York the Sentells seemed to feel that some disaster impended over them. Friends who bade them good-by on the dock and on the steamer seemed to feel the same danger which threatened the voyagers. The subject was discussed, one of the young ladies remarking that she could not escape the presentiment that something was going to happen.

When the matter was mentioned every one of the Sentell family and several friends confessed that they had been similarly impressed. The matter was finally laughed off after one of the Sentell girls had remarked: "Well, if anything does happen we will all be together, anyway."

MOTHER HOME, PLEDGES ALL TO SAVE HER SON

of their sorrow over the tragedy, but would not give a hint as to the defense the family favored.

It was intimated that the Earl and Countess of Yarmouth might come to America in time for the trial if it developed that they could be of any assistance. There has been bad blood between Harry Thaw and the early ever since the latter married Alice Thaw, at one of the most brilliant weddings Pittsburgh has ever seen.

This breach was widened by remarks which the earl made about Evelyn Nesbit, and several times the two men nearly came to blows. Mrs. William Thaw had just succeeded in patching up this difficulty and was looking forward eagerly to a reunion in London as soon as Harry Thaw and his wife joined her. This fact, and the fate of the family name, has removed every trace of feeling, and the Yarmouths will do all in their power to help Thaw.

When the big steamer was finally docked, Mrs. Thaw left her cabin, supported by the Carmichael. They went to the after gangway, after the crush to get ashore had abated somewhat. The ship's band was still playing and joyful reunions were being held on every hand.

The gray haired woman, dressed in semi-mourning costume, came down the gangway unaided. Her son, Josiah, who was waiting, rushed up the gangway to meet her. He kissed her affectionately and with hardly a word, the party of four hurried to two electric hansoms which were waiting at the entrance of the pier.

Greeted by Son Josiah.

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, at the last moment, decided not to go to the Hoboken Pier, but awaited her mother-in-law in her apartments at the Lorraine. Mrs. Thaw's party reached the hotel shortly before 6 o'clock, and there was a touching meeting between mother and wife.

There were several family conferences during the evening, which were attended by all members of the family now in the city.

No information was given, however, as to what line of defense was favored by the family, or what their attitude would be.

At the Tombs tonight it was said that Harry Thaw spent a most restless evening. He paced up and down his narrow cell and refused to be quieted. He fumed at the "red tape" which kept his mother away from him.

It Developed Today That the Defense Is endeavoring to prove that Stanford White at times threatened Thaw with bodily harm. One particular instance, which it is said will be brought up at the trial, was the alleged attempt to hire "Ed" Dunkhorst, "the human freight car," to thrash Thaw within an inch of his life for $250. The offer was refused by Dunkhorst, who weighs more than 300 pounds, and who did not like the idea of thrashing a smaller man.

Leiter Denies Reports.

Among those for whom subpoenas were issued are Joe Leiter and Bancroft Davis who, it is said, were at a dinner with Nina Farrington, when Thaw roughly treated Evelyn Nesbit.

Leiter telegraphed from Chicago today a denial that he had any dinner or dance at which Nina Farrington, an actress, was a guest. He declared that he was not acquainted with any parties in the Thaw case.

MRS. CARTER SAYS SHE IS MARRIED

NEW YORK, July 14.—"Mrs. Carter is married. I have spoken to her over the long distance telephone and she admits the story is true."

Thus spoke David Belasco, when asked by a reporter this evening whether the report of the marriage of Mrs. Leslie Carter was or was not true.

Heavily veiled, Mrs. Carter and some friends who had been stopping at the Hotel Touraine, in Boston, left late today in an automobile. Mr. Payne was not in the party. It was said that the motorists were bound for New York. Earlier in the day Mr. Payne and a number of friends were seen in an automobile.

Just before Mrs. Carter left the hotel she again declined to discuss the report of her marriage.

FRENCHMEN AT PERREARD'S CELEBRATE FALL OF BASTILLE

Loyal Frenchmen to the number of 500 or more gathered at Count Perreard's "Castle," on E street, near Twelfth street northwest, yesterday and last night, and joyfully celebrated the anniversary of the fall of the Bastille, in France in 1793. Mirth and good fellowship held full sway, and the celebration was reluctantly brought to a close at midnight.

STRANGE WHITE ROBIN LIKES CHURCH MUSIC

ELKLAND, Pa., July 14.—One of the strange sights of the town is a white hen robin that makes its home in the yard of the Presbyterian church. The bird is perfectly white, with the exception of a few tail and wing feathers that are black, and a bunch of light drab feathers on the breast. Last summer there was a pair of white robins that nested in Jerma Park, and the opinion is expressed that this is one of their brood. It is remarkably tame.

NO MEXICAN REPLY TO PRESIDENT'S NOTE

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 14.—President Roosevelt has not yet received any reply from Mexico to the note sent President Diaz offering the good services of the United States to settle the controversy between Salvador and Guatemala. International red tape is slow to wind and unwind, and it is not likely that the Mexican ambassador will bring the reply from his home government to the Secretary of State before Monday. That this reply will be a most cordial acceptance of the offer is a foregone conclusion.

COL. WATTERSON OPPOSED TO GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

NEW YORK, July 14.—Col. Henry Watterson, who is spending his vacation at Manhattan Beach, in a political interview this afternoon, came out with the declaration that he is opposed to governmental ownership.
